

Take Care of Animals: It's the Law

Matching Game

Copy the pages and laminate them if you wish for durability. Cut out the cards. Players complete the sentences by matching the correct cards and reading them aloud. Each correct match receives one point. The player with the most points at the end wins. The cards are self-checking.

Animals in this story can be described as our furry, feathered, scaled, and insect friends.

In 1985, only nine California Condors were alive in the wild.

If you make an ugly face at a dog in Oklahoma,

a policeman can make you pay a fine.

In Fairbanks, Alaska, it is illegal to feed alcohol to a moose.

Police can arrest you in Chicago if you

fish in your pajamas.

1

1

2

2

3

3

4

4

5

5

Take Care of Animals: It's the Law

Matching Game

If you live in Tennessee, you can't use a lasso to catch a fish.

Which state protects insects?

California

Pacific Grove, California is home to what butterfly sanctuary?

Monarch

Lawmakers pass laws to protect animals.

The word illegal means against the law.

6

6

7

7

8

8

9

9

10

10